

Average
class size:

20

Learning Goals

The 395H seminar offers students the opportunity to dive deeply into a subject that is likely outside their major or direct field of study. Honors students are deeply intellectually curious and interested in drawing connections between unique course offerings and their majors or career paths. These courses reinforce Honors Outcomes of integrative learning and practicing the skills of a life-long learner.

Topics

395H courses topics draw on a professor's area of expertise and present an appropriate challenge for juniors and seniors, while remaining accessible to students outside the major.

Examples:

The Politics of Nuclear Weapons
Quality TV
Capitalism and Democracy
Regulating the Global Human Population
The Music of Bob Dylan
The Dark Side of Children's Literature

See past courses at: go.unl.edu/hp395H

FACULTY GUIDE

Teaching a 395H Deep Dive Seminar

Types of Credit

All 395H seminars are submitted for ACE certification. In addition, Honors is especially interested in 395H seminars that can be aligned with major or college requirements to maximize opportunity for students to work toward both Honors and degree requirements.

Scheduling

Most 395Hs are taught in Knoll, the Honors Residence Center, at 17th & R. Days & times are determined in coordination with Honors to offer students the most options possible.

Propose a 395H
go.unl.edu/hpnewcourse

